Study Groups

In addition to tutoring, Rutgers Learning Centers also offer free study groups for a more collaborative learning experience. These groups are led by students selected by the course professor and meet once a week for 80 minutes each.

Sign up for study groups and view group meeting times at <https://secure.rutgers.edu/rlcstudygroup/login.aspx>.

Start your own study group at <https://rlc.rutgers.edu/node/54> and https://rutgers.qualtrics.com/jfe/form/SV\_7UkvPmyYNNFPEAB.

Reasons to Participate in Tutoring/ Study Groups

You:

- Consistently have trouble keeping up in lecture
- Underestimated the difficulty of the course
- Wish to excel and stay on top of the content
- Are looking for others to collaborate and study with
- Would like to be proactive and get ahead in the course

Remember, tutoring is not just for those who are struggling! Anybody who is looking to excel in their academics and have a positive learning experience should consider the tutoring and study group programs.
